Alice Capsey called up to England Women IT20 squad for South Africa tour

Alice Capsey has been called up to the England Women IT20 squad for the upcoming series in South Africa.

The 20-year old links up with the group due to a couple of minor injury concerns within the squad.

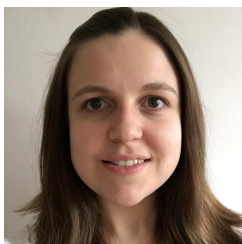

Capsey, who has been playing for Melbourne Renegades during this season's Women's Big Bash League, will join up with the group in South Africa today.

England begin their three-match IT20 series against the Proteas in East London on Sunday 24 November.
