ENGLAND MEN'S & WOMEN'S 2025 FIXTURES

Aug 22, 2024 10:01 BST

England Men's and England Women's series against India and West Indies at heart of 2025 schedule

- Five-match Men's Rothesay Test series and Women's Metro Bank One Day International and Vitality IT20 series against India at heart of the summer between June 20 and August 4.
- Before that, both sides will take on their West Indies counterparts in white-ball series between May 21 and June 10.
- Zimbabwe return for first time since 2003 with a one-off Rothesay Test at Trent Bridge from May 22 to 25.
- England Men also host Metro Bank ODI and Vitality IT20 white-ball series against South Africa in September to close the home international season.

- Public Ballot for England Men's and England Women's international fixtures set to open on 29 August at most venues. Supporters can ensure they are first to receive information about how to buy and gain priority access to tickets by signing up to We Are England Cricket Supporters at ecb.co.uk/tickets/priority.
- Also announced that England Women will take on India in first Women's Test Match at Lord's in 2026.

England Men and England Women will play two series alongside each other in 2025 in an exciting line-up of international cricket unveiled today.

England Women will open the international summer at Canterbury on May 21 with a Vitality IT20 against West Indies Women. That series will include a further two IT20s, before the sides compete in three Metro Bank One Day Internationals (ODIs).

A three-match ODI series between England Men and West Indies Men will begin a few days later at Edgbaston on May 29, with a three-match IT20 series straight after. This follows the conclusion of a historic Test match against Zimbabwe at Trent Bridge, starting on May 22, which will be the first time Zimbabwe have played a Test match in England since 2003.

The West Indies series will be followed by England Men's and England Women's series against India which will also run alongside each other. A five-match Men's Rothesay Test series will be interspersed by England Women's five Vitality IT20s and three Metro Bank One Day Internationals.

The Rothesay Men's Test series promises to be a thrilling clash, with the sides currently at numbers two and three in the ICC world rankings. The last series ended in a 2-2 draw after England won the decider by seven wickets in 2022 in Ben Stokes and Brendon McCullum's first summer at the helm. The match had been delayed by a year due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

England Men's series will begin at Headingley on June 20 before matches at Edgbaston, Lord's and Emirates Old Trafford. The series will conclude at The Kia Oval in early August.

England Women's series also promises to be exciting after England triumphed in the IT20 series and India took the ODI crown the last time the two sides met in this country in 2022.

Next year's England Women's series will begin with Vitality IT20s at Trent Bridge, Bristol's Seat Unique Stadium, The Kia Oval, Emirates Old Trafford and Edgbaston, before three Metro Bank ODIs at Southampton's Utilita Bowl, Lord's and the Seat Unique Riverside, Chester-le-Street.

The home international summer will then conclude in early September, with England Men taking on South Africa in three Metro Bank ODIs and three Vitality IT20s, before the team travels to Ireland for three ODIs from September 17 to 21.

It has also been confirmed that India Women will return in 2026 for a one-off Test match at Lord's – the first-ever Women's Test to be staged at the Home of Cricket. England Women have played white-ball matches at Lord's for the past three years to record crowds of up to 21,610, with another scheduled next year, but it will be the first time the ground has hosted a Women's Test match.

Ticket sales activity for priority groups is set to commence from August 29 with a Public Ballot for England Men's and England Women's international fixtures.

Supporters can ensure they are first to receive information about how to buy and gain priority access to tickets by signing up to We Are England Cricket Supporters at ecb.co.uk/tickets/priority.

Richard Gould, ECB Chief Executive Officer, said: "Staging England Men's and England Women's series alongside each other has been popular with fans and supported the continued growth of the women's game, with both the Ashes last year and the Pakistan series earlier this year proving successful. I'm excited we'll be doing the same again for the West Indies and India series next year. Cricket fans are in for a real treat, and I hope they'll be out in force to support both men's and women's sides.

"India touring is always a big draw and a highlight of any cricket summer. The last men's Test series here was a nailbiter and I'm sure next year's clash will be just as exciting, while our women's series are always fiercely competitive. I'm delighted we'll also be welcoming both West Indies teams back again for white-ball series, following this year's men's Test series.

"To be welcoming Zimbabwe back for a men's Test Match will be a historic moment, more than 20 years since their last visit. Test cricket is so beloved in this country, and we know that we have an important role to play in supporting developing test cricketing nations so that this format of the game thrives long into the future.

"I'm also delighted we can confirm that India Women will return in 2026 to take on England Women in the first-ever women's Test match at Lord's. It will be a truly special occasion, and one of real significance."

Confirmation of series for England's Disability sides will be announced in due course, with the domestic Disability Premier League set to take place across August and September.
