England Women Announce Squad For Pakistan Tour

England Women have confirmed their squad for their December tour of Malaysia, where they'll play Pakistan in three ODIs and three IT20s.

There is a first call-up for Worcestershire leg-spinner Sarah Glenn, who impressed in last season's Kia Super League for Loughborough Lightning, while youngster Mady Villiers retains her place from the summer. Sussex seamer Freya Davies returns to the group.

Nat Sciver (Surrey)

The three ODIs form part of the ICC Women's Championship, and thus represent six points towards qualification for the 2021 ICC Women's World Cup - a tournament for which England have now guaranteed qualification.

The three IT20s will represent an opportunity to prepare for February's ICC

Women's T20 World Cup in Australia. All six matches will be live-streamed and available to watch in the UK.

England captain Heather Knight said: "We're looking forward to getting out there and getting back to international cricket.

"It's been a few months since our last game and there's been a fair bit of change in that time so this tour is an opportunity to start a new era and move forward.

"There's a few younger faces in the group but also a lot of proven talent. I'm really happy with the group and we can't wait for the next few months."
