Trent Rockets have today confirmed the men's and women's stars they have re-signed to return to Trent Bridge this summer for the third year of The Hundred.

Fans at Trent Bridge will be seeing some familiar faces with 10 of the men's players who were part of the winning squad in 2022 remaining with the team, including ICC Men's World Cup Winners Dawid Malan and Alex Hales, and Afghanistan superstar leg-spinner Rashid Khan.

Lewis Gregory, Luke Wood, Colin Munro, Sam Cook, Matt Carter, Samit Patel and Daniel Sams have also been retained, with Joe Root returning as Trent Rockets England Men's Centrally Contracted representative.

New Head Coach of Trent Rockets women's team Jon Lewis will have Nat Sciver-Brunt, Katherine Sciver-Brunt, Bryony Smith and Australia's Alana King as part of his squad, and they'll be aiming to go better than their third-place finish in the competition last year.

Across both competitions, 114 players have been retained in total, meaning 134 spots remain to be filled at The Hundred Draft powered by Sage, and across the open market process in the women's competition.

Teams in the men's competition are able to retain 10 players, and women's teams can retain four of their players. Six men's sides have retained all 10, while Welsh Fire – under the new leadership of Australian great Mike Hussey – will have eight places to fill at The Draft, at which they'll have the first pick.

The women's competition will be hosting a draft for the first time, with Tammy Beaumont's Welsh Fire the first side to pick with the likes of England stars Sophia Dunkley, Danni Wyatt and Kate Cross, as well as a host of international players, up for grabs. The final list for The Hundred Draft powered by Sage is due to be confirmed on 28 February.

The Hundred will kick off its third year at Trent Bridge on Tuesday 1 August with a Trent Rockets v Southern Brave double-header – the first of 68 games that promise high-octane men's and women's sporting action, live music, and a host of family-friendly entertainment

More than half a million people attended games during The Hundred's second year in 2022, including a record-breaking 271,000 watching live women's fixtures across the competition and more families buying tickets than in 2021.

There will be an initial, exclusive window to purchase tickets from 15-28 March for anyone who has previously bought tickets for The Hundred. Those yet to attend can sign up in advance at thehundred.com for priority ticket access from 5-18 April. Tickets will then go on general sale on Thursday 20 April. Tickets this year remain great value in line with 2022 pricing, with prices set at £5 for juniors aged 6-15, free for children five and under, and adults starting from £10.

Trent Rockets winning men's captain Lewis Gregory, said: "I'm really glad we've been able to retain so many of last year's team. We had a great competition and bringing the trophy home showed exactly what we're capable of. We'll be looking to do the same again this year, putting on a show for the fans at Trent Bridge and grabbing another trophy."

England Women all-rounder Nat Sciver-Brunt, said: "It's great to be retained by Trent Rockets. We came pretty close last time round and we want to build on that this year. The women's competition having a draft this year is really exciting, and I think we've got a good core of players to build on. It's a really good competition to play in, with brilliant atmospheres and great cricket, and I'm looking forward to being back at Trent Bridge."

Over 14.1 million people tuned in to watch The Hundred action in 2022 and games will again be broadcast live on Sky Sports and BBC broadcast and digital channels throughout the competition.
