Sciver and Davidson-Richards score maiden Test tons on record-breaking day

England 328-6 lead South Africa 284 all out by 44 runs

Nat Sciver and Alice Davidson-Richards both scored maiden Test hundreds as England grabbed the initiative on day two of the LV= Insurance Test at Taunton.

Coming together with their side wobbling at 121-5, Sciver (119*) and Davidson-Richards (107) combined for a superb partnership of 207 - England

Women's joint-second highest partnership in Test cricket.

Kent and South East Stars all-rounder Davidson-Richards became the first England Women player to score a hundred on Test debut since Lesley Cooke in 1986, and the third overall. Her partnership with Sciver was also England's highest in Test cricket since 2013.

The pair took England 44 runs ahead of the visitors at the close of day two, with four England wickets in hand.
